Benefit Concert for SAGE Transition House

Venetian Mosaic

Friday, May 14, 2010 8pm

St. Andrew's United Church 10th & St. Georges, North Vancouver

Let Laudate sweep you away on a gondola ride down a moonlit canal... straight to the heart of Venice's rich musical heritage. The choir will perform a glorious moosaic of works by Monteverdi, Gabrieli, Lotti, Carissimi and Caldara, accompanied by some of Vancouver's finest early music instrumentalists: Nancy DiNovo and Pat Armstrong (violins), Ariel Barnes (cello), Ray Nurse (theorbo) and organist Christopher Bagan.

Laudate Singers A Magical Season

Voice, word, harmony, rhythm, personality, meaning, emotion, texture, nostalgia, adventure – choral music has it all. When everything comes together just right, it's magic. And, according to our audiences, magic quite often happens at Laudate Singers' concerts. We hope you will be a part of it again in 2009-2010, our 15th season.

Christmas Classics is a holiday concert in true Laudate style, with a great mix of secular and sacred favourites, from ancient Gregorian chant to classic jazz and more. With A Gift of Song, we are proud to support one of our community's finest organizations, SAGE Transition House. We'll finish the season with a spring visit to Renaissance and Baroque Italy, in Venetian Mosaic.

We continue to celebrate both local and world choral traditions. You'll hear brand new work from our composer-in-residence Bruce Sled, as well as many other songs from Vancouver and elsewhere in North America. We continue to mine for the treasures of the European tradition and delve into South America's astounding abundance of choral repertoire. In October, members of Laudate Singers and Sinfonia Orchestra will fly to Japan to represent North Vancouver at the Chiba Cultural Festival. Music will transcend geographic and cultural boundaries as we celebrate the 40th anniversary of our cities' sisterhood with music from both Japan and Canada.

As you can see, our 2009-2010 season promises to be a glorious and magical adventure. We invite you to experience it with us!
